Cultural Awareness and Enrichment

Religious Literacy: Responses to Paris and San Bernadino

Rm. 804

Facilitated by Irene Plunkett

As more and more of the political discourse centers around or alludes to religion, which in turn shapes both domestic and foreign policy, many Americans are at a distinct disadvantage. We often know relatively little of the specifics of our own religion, or of the role religion has played historically in our own country and educational system. We often know less about other religions. Such ignorance puts us at the mercy a media focused on sound bites and audience share. Using Stephen Prothero's book Religious Literacy: What Every American Needs to Know--And Doesn't, we will wade into the water.
