Questions on the 2015-2016 Free Application for Federal Student Aid asks you for parental information (marital status, Social Security Numbers, names and dates of birth of the parents reporting information on the form). This information is required for continued review of your financial aid application, even if you do not live with them.

Please provide the last names, Date of Birth and Social Security Numbers for each parent or stepparent whose information is provided on your FAFSA. If zero (0) SSN you must still provide for each parent or stepparent.

Whose information do you need to provide?
- If your parents are not married but living together, provide information about both of them.
- If your parents are both living and married to each other, provide information about both of them.
- If your parent is widowed or single, provide information about that parent. If that parent is remarried as of today, provide information about that parent and your stepparent.
- If your parents are divorced or separated, provide information about the parent you lived with more during the past 12 months. (If you did not live with one parent more than the other, give answers about the parent who provided more financial support during the last 12 months or the last time that you actually received support from a parent.) If this parent is remarried as of today, provide information about that parent and your stepparent.

58. What is your parents’ marital status as of the day your FAFSA application was signed and submitted?
