

Chabot College

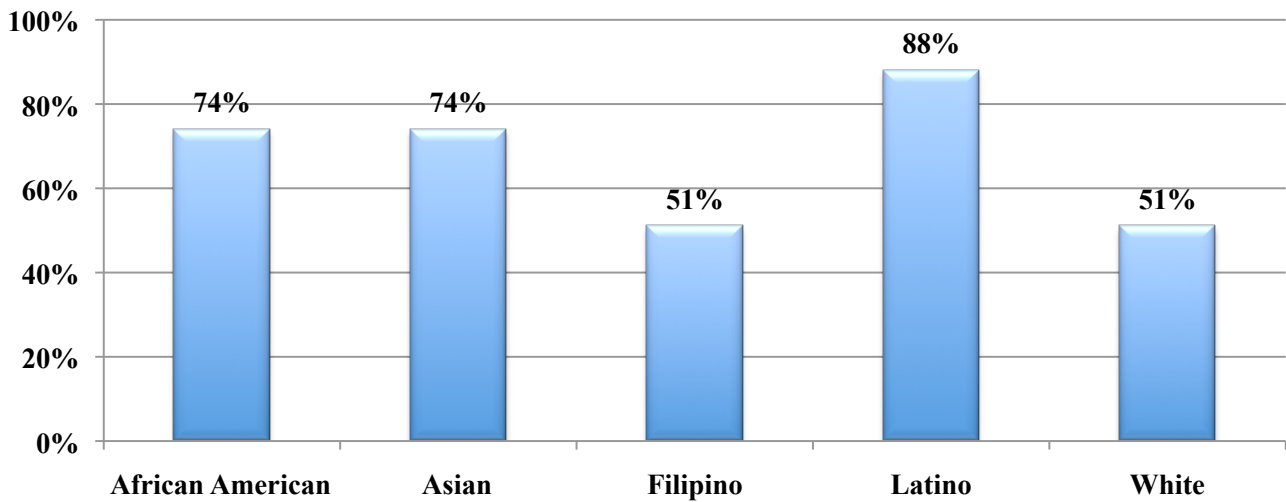

Diverse, First Generation Students Starting at Basic Skills Levels

Chabot College serves a diverse population of 14,300 students in five major ethnic groups. Between 50 and 90 percent of each ethnic group are first generation college* students. With the majority of most ethnic groups also starting community college at the Basic Skills level in English and/or Math, our students need substantial guidance and support to navigate through college to successful degree and transfer outcomes.

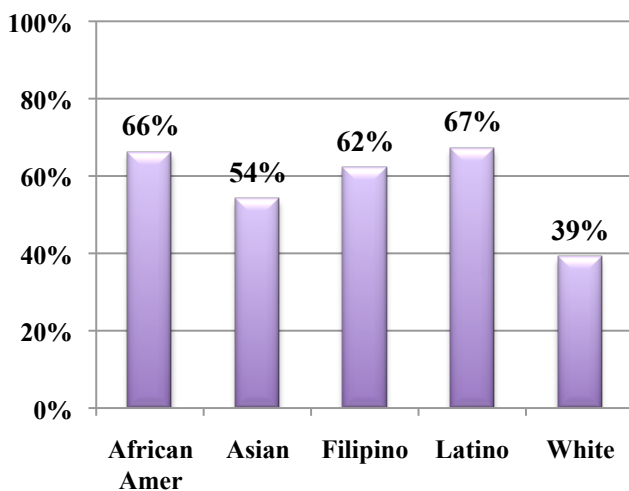

Fall 2016 Students by Race-ethnicity

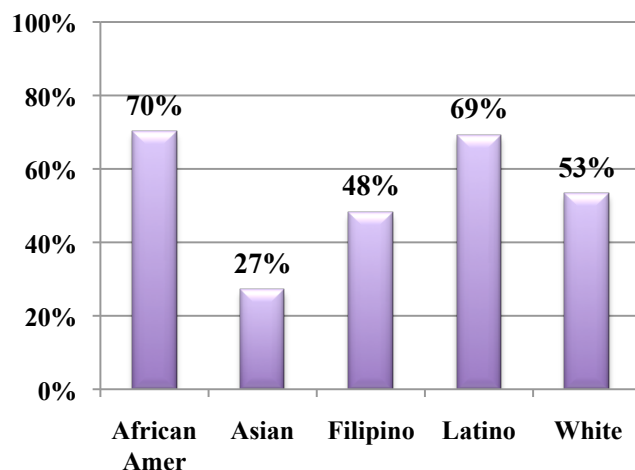

Percentage of First Generation College Students within Race-Ethnicity Groups

Pct Assessed into Basic Skills English

Pct Assessed into Basic Skills Math

*First generation college student: Neither parent has earned a baccalaureate degree.