

Chabot College

First Generation College Students by Race-Ethnicity: Fall 2020

In the California Community College Student Success Metrics Dashboard, first-generation status is defined as a student for whom no parent or guardian has earned more than a high school diploma and who has no college experience. By this definition, 45%(fall 2019*)-43%(fall 2020) of Chabot students would be considered first generation. First generation is also commonly defined in federal grants and reports as a student for whom no parent or guardian has earned a bachelor's degree; thus, students who have at least one parent/guardian with some college experience or even an associate's degree would still be considered first generation. By this definition, 73%(fall 2019*)-71%(fall 2020) of Chabot students would be considered first generation. Further, first generation status varies by students' racial and ethnic backgrounds. Defining first generation as neither parent/guardian having a bachelor's degree, in fall 2020, Latinx (86%), Pacific Islander (85%) and Native American/Alaska Native (80%) students are most likely to be first generation, whereas White (56%) and Filipinx students (45%) are least likely to be first generation. Regardless of how first generation is defined, it is clear that Chabot needs to ensure we have strong programs and services in place to support our first generation students.

* Fall 2019 data not depicted in table and graph below.

Race-Ethnicity	Fall 2020: Parent's Highest Education Level
	High school diploma or less		Less than Baccalaureate Degree (inc. HS diploma or less)
	Num	Percent	Num	Percent
African American/Black	337	32%	724	69%
Asian American/Asian	837	44%	1,229	65%
Filipinx	134	13%	447	45%
Latinx	2,964	61%	4,231	86%
Native American/Alaska Native	14	56%	20	80%
Pacific Islander/Hawaiian Native	101	53%	161	85%
White	479	26%	1,048	56%
Multiracial	235	28%	523	62%
Unknown	74	40%	124	67%
Total*	5,175	43%	8,507	71%

Source: Chabot-Las Positas CCD Institutional Research Dataset

* Approximately 8% of Chabot enrolled students in Fall 2020 did not report their parents' education level.

Fall 2020: Percentage of Students who are First Generation College Students by Race-Ethnicity

