

Chabot College Student Satisfaction Survey: Fall 2019 Highlights

Transportation: How do students get to Chabot?

A majority of Chabot students drive themselves to the college (71%), which could explain why some students find it challenging to find parking spots. The next most common modes of transportation are the bus (15%), getting regular rides (15%), and different rides (11%). Dependability of transportation is a potential barrier to educational success for many of our students. For the 71% of students who drive themselves, 77% stated they can "always" rely on their transportation. However, for students who use other forms of transportation (e.g., taking BART, the bus, getting rides, etc.), only 37%-58% stated they could "always" rely on their transportation.

The biennial Student Satisfaction Survey was conducted in October 2019 in a representative sample of 79 on-campus course sections and was completed by 1,544 students (59% full-time and 41% part-time).

Modes of Transportation

How do you usually get to Chabot?

Transportation	Percentage of each group of students using each mode of transportation
	All students	African American/Black	Asian American	Filipin/x	Chicanx/Latinx	Native American/Alaskan*	Pacific Islander/Hawaiian*	White

Get different rides	11%	18%	8%	13%	11%	12%	18%	13%

Note: Percentages do not add up to 100% since multiple options could be chosen.

Note: For most responses, due to margin of error, percentages can be plus or minus:

African American/Black: 7-10%, Asian American/Asian: 5-8%, Filipino/x: 6-9%, Chicanx/Latinx: 3-6%, Native American/Alaskan: 15-21%, Pacific Islander/Hawaiian: 10-18%, White/European Americans: 7-12%.

*Percentages for Native American/Alaskan and Pacific Islander/Hawaiian students should be interpreted with caution because of higher margins of error due to small sample sizes. They are italicized for this reason.
